Joke of the Day!
Why shouldn't you write with a broken pencil? Because it's pointless!

Day 6!

Tomorrow is Superhero in the Home Day! We'd love you to get involved! Get dressed up as your favourite hero, don your mask and support our heroes on the frontline. Have a look at all of the incredible charities they are supporting including NHS charities together. Look at the website for more information. We'd love to see some of your pictures!

Happy birthday Jacob B. We all hope you have a great day!

Guess Who?

Did you guess yesterday's? It was Mr Grinsted! Today's clues:

1. Loves Disney
2. Favourite food is chocolate
3. Used to live in Finland

This particular teacher doesn't think you'll get it. Prove him/her wrong!

Well Done Ollie and Offerton Park JFC!

Ollie and his football team, Offerton Park JFC, raised £2,425 for the Stockport NHS Foundation Trust. His team and their families walked/ran/dribbled a marathon in their gardens!

LEARNING POWERS!

2.6

Yesterday, on 26th April, was the date for the London Marathon. Unfortunately, this had to be postponed. But it didn't stop people raising money! The organisers challenged people to be creative around the theme of 2.6 or 26 (a marathon is 26 miles). There was a chocolate cake with 26 layers, 26 laps of the garden in 26 different outfits and loads more! Check out CBBC Newsround for more information.

Well Done Brooke!

Well done Brooke! Still home learning and getting her daily exercise by going on walks with her crutches after hurting her ankle! Get well soon Brooke!
